"As expected, we delivered significant improvements in first quarter financial results with solid growth on the top line and more than a two-fold improvement in profitability. Strategic changes to reposition SPAR, which include overhauling our labor platform, realigning our sales and marketing efforts and improving our technologies, were responsible for the improvement in our domestic financial results and are becoming the foundation for continued profitable growth. First quarter international revenue increased 7%, driven by continued growth in Brazil and Japan. While profitability was down slightly versus last year, we expect efficiency initiatives combined with a revenue mix shift to drive improvements in international profitability," said Chief Executive Officer, Christiaan Olivier. "Positive momentum exiting the first quarter has carried over into the first half of the second quarter. Our pipeline of business opportunities is strong, and we expect continued revenue growth during 2019. As we gain further benefit from strategic changes, we expect even stronger growth in profitability."

All international subsidiaries, with the exception of India, Australia, and Canada, experienced gross profit margin improvement in the first three months of 2019 compared to the same period last year.

The increase in domestic gross profit margin compared to the same period last year was due to a shift in our labor platform in the later part of 2018 and a more favorable mix of margin project work year over year.
